Well, one of them, at least.

You see, a hero is a person who does something that is inspiring to others. This may be running into a burning building to save a pet; maybe donating time and money to the less fortunate; maybe even leaping tall buildings in a single bound. People who do these things are inspiring to me, and can fall into the “hero” category for me. Maybe you do these things and maybe you don’t. What do you do that inspires me?

You come to school.

Sometimes life gets in the way, but you come to school. Sometimes choices are made that are hard to live with, but you come to school. Sometimes it feels like no one understands, but you come to school. Sometimes you’d rather be anywhere else, but you come to school. You come to school and that inspires me.

It inspires me precisely because it is hard to do and you still do it. It inspires me to make sure that I bring my best performance for you every day because, if I don’t, how would you know how powerful it is? In the end, the fact that you are reading this right now makes me happy that being here for you is all in my day’s work.

Congratulations on a year well done.

GRADUATION

Good afternoon everyone! On behalf of myself and my fellow graduates I thank you all for celebrating with us the Boyle Street Education Centre's class of 2011.

I am honored to be speaking before you today, for many of our students getting here has been a struggle, yet here before you are 8 students, 8 students who struggled, persevered, and overcame.

I remember 2 years ago from now; I was in such a dark and lonely place battling with an addiction, I felt alone and felt like no one understood what I was going through and I felt like my world had crashed, and that I couldn't ever be normal. A normal person without an addiction. If it wasn't for my mother sticking with me and encouraging me to do better I'd probably be dead right now. So one thing I'd like to say to all of you graduates is no matter how hard or bumpy the road may seem never give up.

Think of the positive side to the struggle; even when you think there is no chance to get through just believe in yourself and you will conquer what needs to be conquered.

I say that my decision to enroll in Boyle Street was one of the best decisions I made. It is a community; the staff understands the challenges that students face in and outside school and do what is necessary for each individual to succeed. They work hard to bring us there and for that we would like to say thank you.

Where will we go from here? For each of us the answer is different- maybe continue in school, maybe travel, maybe work. Or maybe play slots. The possibilities are endless and the choice is ours. My hope is that you have worked hard to choose your future, do it wisely, continue to learn. Be thankful and make your choices count. You are free to be whatever and whenever you want. I wish you all good luck
